Discover the Most Important Beauty Invention of the 21st Century!!

...How to add INSTANT Length, Volume and/or Highlights to your Hair and even (in some cases) improve the condition of your natural hair.....With Human and Synthetic HAIR EXTENSIONS!

What if you could go to a salon for a few hours and come out with long beautiful flowing hair that looks perfectly natural?

Would you be interested?

You could go to your local salon to see about getting hair extensions. But what they don't want you to know is that there are MANY different ways to attach hair extensions other than the one they are using.

Some methods may be more suited for certain situations and hair types. If you are shopping for a new car, do you just look at one brand? Although hair extensions are not as much of an investment as a car (although you may feel like it is!!), they are a major investment (in money and in the health of your natural hair) and you need to be informed of all your choices. AND.....Most hair extension services are non-refundable, since they involve mostly labor.

Hair Resources Editor, Perriann Rodriguez will lead you through all of the marketing hype in the E-book, 2005's Most Popular Hair Extensions to help you discover which hair extension method is available and suitable for your particular hair. 27 different methods are discussed, including how long the extensions last, average costs, important training and certification requirement for the stylist doing them, where to find a salon for a particular method and much more.

She also puts together a chart with all of the information so that you can easily compare the different methods.

Consumer Alert !!!

This unique presentation of hair extension information has never before been previously available to the consumer. Many hair extension companies keep you in the dark about their methods and procedures. There is no need to spend one dollar on inferior quality hair extension services that could be damaging to your natural hair, not to mention psychologically damaging.

Hair Extensions can be a LIFE-CHANGING service that can completely change the way you look and think about yourself. Do your research!!!!

STOP!! Do not spend one dollar on hair extensions until you have this valuable information. Now for the first time you can discover the answers to all of your questions and take control of your decision for hair extension services.

We have received Emails from Men and Women worldwide that wish they had researched hair extensions before they got them. Disasters such as all or most of the hair extensions falling out, the natural hair falling out along with the extensions, severe damage to the natural hair and many more hair extensions disasters can not only kill your pocketbook, but your self-esteem.

Welcome

Hair extensions are a great way to add immediate length, volume or highlights/lowlights without chemical processing to your hair. Human or synthetic fiber hair is attached, by one of many available methods, directly to your natural hair.

Extensions have become more and more popular in the United States in the last ten years as advancements in hair extension methods allow the extensions to stay in the hair on a more permanent basis. (Permanent meaning a few months) In the 1970's many African American Salons started doing hair extensions by sewing human hair wefts (human hair attached together at the top) into corn rows. As more and more women desire popular long hair styles, the hair extension industry in the United States has evolved to offer many different methods of attachment. Once thought to be only for the rich and famous, hair extensions are now widely available to everyone and are much more affordable than in the past.

As research and development continues in the hair extension industry, the consumer is offered many different systems for adding hair extensions, making the hair extension decision more complicated.

What system will you go with? How will it affect your natural hair? Should you use human hair or synthetic fiber hair? Which stylist do you pick? How do you take care of the extensions? How long do they last? The questions go on and on. Finding the answer sometimes can require a lot of research and digging.

Hair Resources has already done a lot of 'digging' into hair extension methods based on inquiries about hair extensions from consumers around the world. This resulting book will educate you about the various methods and systems and answer your questions so that you can make an educated decision regarding hair extensions. There's always a little comfort with knowledge.

This book is not intended to tell you that one particular hair extension method is good and another one is bad. All hair extension companies claim that their system or method is non-damaging to the natural hair and all hair suppliers claim that they have the best quality human hair. We will provide you with the descriptions of the methods, contact info for each of the companies and many other resources where you can read about people who have had hair extensions. With all of this information, you can make a better decision on what hair extension method would be best for your particular hair situation.

We would like to answer all of your questions. However, if your particular question is not addressed, please Email it to heguide@hairresources.net and we will do our best to get you an answer.

Also, we encourage you to visit our brand new forum for Hair Extensions, located at <http://www.hairresources.net> and discuss your experience with hair extensions, or perhaps give someone else encouragement to get or not to get hair extensions.

Enjoy!
